The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any other Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in eash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one-eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the cows' milk at rest for four or five hours, and combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL then to remove the upper third part for use; PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th of March, 1854, since which time over five thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over thirty thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having exact proportions of human milk at that early trebled our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospeets of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prodence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States.

All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitra ors of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. FEEDING INFANTS. The following article, interesting to mothers, is copied from the Natchez Courier. Great mortality prevails among children from injudicious feeding. Some persons attempt to support them upon articles of food which contain little else than starch or gum, neither of which are capable of themselves, of sustaining animal life. Others confine them principally to the milk of the cow, the State and City Bonds, 6 per cents........ 74,245.00 Hence the large amount of sickness and mortality from disordered stomachs and bowels. and which are generally attributed to teeth-$503,769.86 | ing. to worms, and to any and every other cause but the right one, error in diet, producing indigestion. In the last July number of the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, there is a clever article on "natural and artificial lactation," by Dr. Cumming, a brief abstract of the concluding portion of which I am Loss or Damage by Fire, on Dwellings, Warehouses, Stores, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most young and doubting mothers. He says, and young and doubting mothers. He says, and sufficiently proves by physiological and chemical argument, that nothing but milk can to fatal maladies, unless it be made to correspond very closely in its constituent elements with human milk. Cows' milk differs from human milk in some important particulars, as has been accurately ascertained by chemical analysis.-It contains nearly three times as much casein as human milk, but somewhat less than twice as much butter, while human milk contains nearly one-third more sugar, and a little more water than cows' milk. Mere diluting cows' milk by adding water with addition of sugar, therefore, as is commonly done, will not fit it for easy digestion by the infant stomach. There will in this case always be an excess of casein, and a deficiency of butter. But the proportions are materially changed by permitting the cows' milk to rest undisturbed until the lighter particles rise toward the surface; and nearly the same result is obtained by using only the milk last taken from the cow.

Dr. Cumming, therefore, proposes to have or to take only the latter half as furnished by the cow. He then advises us to add for a child not more than ter days old, two and a half parts of water, and one-fourth part of exact proportions of human milk at that early period of lactation. The exact proportions are-milk 1000, water 2642, sugar 243 .--The sugar and water are decreased as the child growsolder, until at five months, the proportions are-milk 1000, water 1000, sugar 104, and at eighteen months the proportions are-milk 1000, water 500, sugar 63. The child should take this food at a temperature of one hundred to one hundred and our degrees, and by suction. An eight ounce vial, with a quill rolled in a long strip of Swiss muslin for a stopper, is the best arrangement for cleanliness and convenience. Tubes having narrow passes cannot be readi-

A child ten days old will take thirty-two ounces daily, in eight meals of four ounces each; and the meals should increase in quantity and diminish in number as the child grows older, so that at three months seven meals of eight ounces each may be taken .-The milk should be given at regular intervals, except that the child should be early accustomed to pass six to eight hours at night without feeding. The regularity of feeding, with proper intervals, is in accorddance with a physiological law of digestion applicable to all persons, namely, that the stomach should have time fully to digest its

COMMUNICATED. LINES FOR AN ALBUM. May the language that silently steals

To the heart from the pretty Moss Rose, To thy view bring the joy it conceals, And enliven life's cup as it flows, And when sporting along with the gay,

May thou ever the happiest be,

And may unalloyed pleasure alway Be on Time's golden pinion for thee! May the hope that is anchored above, While on earth, be thy lot to possess, And thy heart be a fountain of love, For thy God who doth guide thee and bless. And thy duty while dwelling below, In a world that is gloomy as this, Be the seeds of contentment to sow, And to make home an Eden of bliss.

May thine eyes which so brilliantly shine,

Ne'er be dimm'd by a sorrowful tear, Nor thy heart, which is truthful, e'er pine,

For a kindred affection as dear;

But may peace ever beam in thine eye, And contentment e'er glow on thy cheek, And if others should heave the deep sigh, Be thy province sweet comfort to speak May the sun ne'er shadow a form, That would darken your pathway while here, Nor the heavens e'er mantle a storm, Than the gentlest gale more severe; But athwart o'er the swift rolling tide,

May thy bark most triumphantly sail, With a heart like thine own, that will guide, In the fiercest and gentlest gale. Middleburg, Loudoun County, April, 1859. TE WOULD inform all in want of BROOMS.
